

The Palace of Auburn Hills

Arena title	The Palace of Auburn Hills
Capacity	24,276
About	The Palace of Auburn Hills (commonly referred to as The Palace) is a sports and entertainment venue in the Detroit suburb of Auburn Hills, Michigan. The arena opened in 1988 and is the home of the Detroit Pistons of the National Basketball Association (NBA). It was the home of the Detroit Shock of the Women's National Basketball Association (WNBA), the Detroit Vipers of the International Hockey League, the Detroit Safari of the Continental Indoor Soccer League, and the Detroit Fury of the Arena Football League.
Logo	 The logo for The Palace of Auburn Hills. It features the word "PALACE" in a large, stylized, serif font. Above "PALACE" are the letters "T H E" in a smaller font. Below "PALACE" is the text "OF AUBURN HILLS" in a smaller, sans-serif font. The entire logo is enclosed within a circular frame with decorative flourishes.
Photo	 A photograph of the exterior of The Palace of Auburn Hills at night. The arena's facade is illuminated with a grid pattern of yellow and blue lights. The words "THE PALACE OF AUBURN HILLS" are visible on the building's exterior. Several cars are parked in front of the arena, and a few people can be seen near the entrance.