

Time Warner Cable Arena

Arena title	Time Warner Cable Arena
Capacity	20,200
About	Time Warner Cable Arena (originally Charlotte Bobcats Arena and commonly The Hive, Time Warner Arena, or The Cable Box), is an entertainment and sports venue, located in center city Charlotte, North Carolina. It is owned by the city of Charlotte, and operated by the Charlotte Hornets of the NBA. It made its grand opening in October 2005 as the Charlotte Bobcats Arena, with a concert by the Rolling Stones and hosted its first Bobcats game on November 5, 2005. The arena's current center-hung video screen, known as "Hornets TV", measures 16 feet by 28 feet and features a wraparound mural of uptown Charlotte.
Logo	 The logo for Time Warner Cable Arena features a stylized blue 'C' shape on the left, resembling a swirl or a partial circle. To the right of this symbol, the words 'Time Warner Cable Arena' are stacked vertically in a blue, sans-serif font.
Photo	 An aerial photograph of the Time Warner Cable Arena, a large, modern sports and entertainment venue. The arena has a distinctive curved, white roof and is surrounded by various urban buildings, parking lots, and green spaces. The surrounding area includes several multi-story office buildings and commercial structures, with a mix of brick and modern architectural styles.